Hello,

For the sake of offering a critical and skeptical point of view, I want to submit the possibility that Dr. Emoto has not actually, in fact, proven that water has the sensitivity that he claims it does. Meanwhile, I also want to keep an open mind to the possibility that maybe, just maybe, he struck gold!

I am a chemistry student in Vermont and I have spent the last few months researching Dr. Masaru Emoto's work. My idea was to see if I could replicate his findings in the college chemistry lab. The project had two parts:

- 1) Review existing literature to determine Emoto's procedures and practices, and see if anyone else in the world has reproduced his work.
- 2) If the findings from step 1 indicated a high probability of being able to reproduce Emoto's work, to conduct a small-scale study of the effects of Reiki-energy healing on samples of distilled water.

However, after months of research (the first step), I determined that it was not worthwhile to try to reproduce Emoto's work (step 2).

If anyone is interested in knowing why, please read my official research paper on the topic (see my signature, below).

Basically, as I see it, Emoto completely failed to conduct his "research" in any scientific manner, and therefore he did not eliminate many possible sources of error that could skew his results. His only published photographs support his claims, but where are the photographs that were inconclusive or contradictory?

I could not find one scientist in the whole world that has reproduced Emoto's work. The few pseudo-scientific attempts that I found all indicated that they did not support Emoto's claims. I also find it very questionable that Dr. Emoto has started selling his "healing water" for personal profit.

I welcome everyone's thoughts on the topic.

Sincerely,
Kristopher Setchfield

HADO Instructor School is a workshop program of 3 days (+ one optional day). It aims to educate people who will research, understand, and spread the information of water's true essence from the point of view of Hado and water crystals.

Dr. Masaru Emoto and other specialists conduct lectures and guide the workshop so that you will learn Dr. Emoto's theory, thoughts and philosophy deeply and correctly including messages from water. This is somehow spiritual seminar, because you will also learn about Zen meditation and to live well as a human being.

FROM DR. EMOTO...

"During the wonderful four days of "training" and workshop, there was something that especially touched me deeply. This happened during the dinner party on the second night. Here, every U.S. Hado Instructors from our first school utilized the tools which were given to them at that time, and in each of their hometowns, they started doing seminars and workshops...and now they were able to report back to the new students in how they did it. I felt a warm tingling sensation around my eyes as I understood that these first U.S. Hado Instructors not only came to the second school to refresh their knowledge about Hado, but more importantly, that they really wanted to communicate to the new students their experiences and joy they attained from living a life of resonance and Hado. There's a first for everything—and these first U.S. Hado Instructors were able to transfer the fact that it wasn't easy in the beginning due to the newness of the acquired information, but that they were able to overcome their fears and limitations and had experienced amazing results."

The Global Dialogue Center received word from Dr. Emoto's office, requesting we share his message with all of you.

MESSAGE FROM DR. EMOTO:

My Thoughts in regards to Hurrican Katrina: *We must learn more about water.

As I write this message on this day, September 4, 2005 (Japan Time), the aftermath of Hurricane 'Katrina' has worsened and is now predicted that 'Katrina' may have taken about 10,000 lives - my thoughts and prayers go out to all of those affected. In addition, for those of you who are, on a daily basis fighting death looming about, I would like to send my encouragement, "Please be patient, you will all be saved - you are all Americans."

The tsunami that attacked the coast along the Indian Ocean late last year following the major earthquake that hit Indonesia was an unpredictable catastrophe. For the people in the developed world, the news about this crisis was a sad occurrence in a far away developing country.

However, Hurricane Katrina was something that was predicted and still ended up as a huge catastrophe - in the 21st century, where all technological advancement seemed to have reached its peak, and in a developed country such as the United States.

The above two major natural disasters occurred in a developed and developing country: at the different ends of the spectrum, and under predicted and unpredicted circumstances. However, the reason for all the death that occurred in these two instances was the same: water. What can be said I believe, is that whether it's a developed or developing country or whether it was predictable or not, we, as a whole, are terribly ill equipped to handle this type of an emergency situation. I have researched as to why this has happened, and how we can prevent the reoccurrence of such tragedies and would like to share those thoughts with you here.

Dear friends,

Dr. Masaru Emoto continues to make a major impact on the world. More and more his remarkable contributions show up in different places, working to invite all of us to challenge our thinking ---- to see the world anew --- to create a new world reality.

On World Music Central, we ran across an article that ignited our minds once again and we are sure it will yours...

WORLD MUSIC CENTRAL---Contributed by Cranky Crow, it begins...

We live in revolutionary times and radical change creates discomfort. Our ancestors most likely didn't readily accept that the world was round after centuries of believing that it was flat. Today's equivalent of this type of radical thought can be found within the field of quantum physics. What if we are simply energy, vibrations and that we experience as solid and grounded is actually energy as well? What if we do create our own reality through our beliefs, which we rarely questions any longer? What if water has consciousness and what if water could record our thoughts through our vibrations? And if we go even deeper into this cosmic ocean, what if each individual has the power and the responsibility to create the world around them? Wouldn't that mean, that we need to become conscious of our thoughts and whether those thoughts create peace or feed the fire of destruction? And what would happen if musicians became more aware of the musically energy they release out into the vast universe?

Quantum physicists weren't the first humans to discover that the world is made up of vibrations. The ancient shamans/sorcerers could bend time, (soul) travel through multiple dimensions and speak of mental constructs that would easily blow the average person's mind. (Today, they still can). When an initiate underwent a death-rebirth process, they were actually facing the death of old reality. Facing symbolic death is as frightening as facing physical death. An initiate might feel that the ground they once walked has disappeared from beneath their feet. They might believe up is down and down is up. Certainly they wouldn't be seen as sane by an uninitiated person. The revolution that is surfacing on the planet at this time represents symbolic death on a grand scale. Many of us are seeing the world contrary to what we've been taught. But isn't it better to see ourselves as co-creators of reality? Isn't it better to become conscious of the energy we are releasing into the world through our music or our emotions? And isn't it time to focus on the task at hand, ushering lasting global peace? And what is the role of sensitive people and musicians? Incidentally in the field of metaphysics emotions are tied in with the water element.

Revolutionary times call for visionaries to reveal the mysteries of life.

*Internationally renowned researcher Dr. Masaru Emoto has gained worldwide acclaim by revealing the connection between water and the collective consciousness. Dr. Emoto's research with water crystals began with a thought and an open-heart. He explains the origins of his profound research in his latest book, The Hidden Messages in Water, "One day I casually opened a book to words that jumped off the page: 'No two snow crystals are exactly the same.'"*

After pondering the significance of this sentence which only seemed elementary on the surface, Dr. Emoto considered that for millions of years all the snowflakes that have fallen onto the earth have been different. "The next moment I thought, If I freeze water and look at the crystals, each one will be totally unique. And that moment marked my first step on an adventure into a new and unexplored world." And one that would alter anyone who comes into contact with Dr. Emoto's research view on human consciousness.

AN INVITATION TO YOU...Have you been connected to Dr. Emoto's work? If you have, ignite your interest again with this inspiring message. If not, we invite you to be introduced through the Cranky Crow's generous contribution. Also, be sure to visit the KNOWLEDGE GALLERY at the Global Dialogue Center to see our self-learning exhibit honoring Japan's Dr. Emoto and his remarkable discoveries. ### ADD VISUALIZATION TO YOUR LOVE AND THANKS - Message from Dr. Masaru Emoto

I happened upon this inspiring message and call to action for all of us:

"Let us visualize that the vibration of Love and Thanks is transmitting into water as golden/silver light. The whole water of the world is sparkling beautifully. Finally, the whole planet is shining so brilliantly. When filled with the highest vibration of light, everything is healed and harmonized. Let us visualize that the faces of all the people on Earth are filled with a smile.

Consciousness of each of us creates our world, which means we can change the world. When the Earth is filled with the vibration of Love and Thanks, then you will experience a world filled with Love and Thanks."

With permission, we are pleased to share the following comment that came from Jim Spacht's experience of the Wisdom in Water now showing at the Knowledge Gallery at the Global Dialogue Center:

Is it possible that Dr. Emoto's own expectations were involved with the outcomes of the crystal photos? We know the observer effects the observed. Perhaps, as subatomic particles are influenced by their observer, crystal formation is influenced too. (Then the words facing the water would not be the cause. Dr. Emoto's expectations would be the cause.) YES?

Jim Spacht

👉 Jim Spacht also shared he is a full time community college teacher. He read Dr. Emoto's book, Hidden Messages in Water, which one of his students shared with him.

"I have always felt a closeness for river, and sea water. I find sitting in a floating river, or where the sea meets the beach to be places of spiritual healing. Ever since I was small, I have felt that water does speak to us!! Your web page filled me with much joy, and a desire to advocate for the respect that water deserves. Thank you, it was a breath of fresh air."

MESSAGE FROM DR. MASARU EMOTO PRAYERS CAN LIMIT SECONDARY DISASTER

To everyone in the world...

Let us offer a prayer of love to the Indian Ocean rim countries!!

I feel terribly sorry for the loss that has been caused by the biggest catastrophe of tsunami in history. I am utterly lost for words to offer for the deceased and their family. I just pray to god that their souls shall rest in peace.

Just today, WHO [World Health Organization] has released a warning for the possible emergence of epidemics. It has reported that at the moment, the hygiene has dramatically worsened, and the epidemic such as cholera could spur in any minute. If so, as many people could die from infectious diseases as were killed by the tsunami.

As a Hado (vibration) researcher, I am truly worried about this disaster. As well as the hygiene issue, I feel that the vibrational fields of the countries have extremely deteriorated. ...feelings of fear, grief, worry, lack of trust, anger, loneliness, and helplessness could energize the malevolent microorganisms that prefer this kind of environment.

People cannot help but have these feelings, and they probably carry the feelings with them. Many people feel this way, and there seems to be some plundering going on, but their feeling of anger and hostility can only multiply the negativity... Also, we must take into account the emergence of a new epidemic.

We have to limit the negative field in any way possible. I believe that there is already a spreading Hado (vibration) of fear due to the terrorist attack and bombing, and it is like a gasoline station with an oil leak that is about to explode.

WHAT WE CAN DO? The only way is for people from all over the world to pray for the recovery of the affected area. The prayer will definitely carry far with the purity of its Hado. Therefore, from today, let us close our eyes for a few second before our meal and send words of prayer to the countries. Let us send a prayer for them before we go to sleep. Also, when we pray during the end of year and the new year ceremony, let us send a prayer first and foremost for world peace.

Through the research of the water crystal over the last ten years, I have proven that people through pure energy of consciousness can change the water in areas that people have prayed for, regardless of the distance. Also, the most effective Hado prayer is the feeling of Love and Thanks. Now is the time to send everyone feelings of Love and Thanks to the earth and to the water.

Masaru Emoto
